

Photographer

As a Raleigh photographer, your primary role will be to identify and document powerful stories of change through photography and film. You will work alongside the volunteer communications officer to gather visual content for our communications channels. You will also capture new imagery to support volunteer recruitment and training and keep our stakeholders up to date.

You will be part of the 'fieldbase' team, but you won't be in the office all the time. You will spend time living in rural communities, getting to know community members, volunteers and partners and work with them to tell their stories.

As well as being the person behind the camera, you will also identify 'photography champions' and build their skills and confidence so that they can document their own stories.

While your main role will be as a photographer, you will support the fieldbase team and volunteer managers with other duties when required.

Being a Raleigh photographer is an incredible opportunity to tell the stories of some inspirational young people and rural communities who are making a real difference in the world.

Essential skills

- Experience of using photography to communicate powerful stories
- Access to a camera and equipment that you are willing to travel with
- Photo editing and cataloguing skills
- Willingness to train others in photography and storytelling skills
- Ability to work independently
- Excellent organisational skills and ability to work with limited resources
- Able to work in a cross-cultural team
- Commitment to the aims, ethos and culture of Raleigh International